FIND DRUG DEALER'S GIRL

A girl of twenty-one, Miss Gertrude Crowe, of No. 21 Longfellow street, Dorchester, was found dead early today in a room at the Hotel Waterbury in the West End, and beside her lay a five-ounce vial which had contained chloroform.

She registered at half after eleven last night, and a chambermaid discovered the body at 2:30 today. The police immediately began a vigorous investigation.

The hotel is at No. 21 Bulfinch place. The girl registered as "G. G. Crowe," and was assigned to room 24. Miss Catherine Burke, a chambermaid, escorted her to her room. It was Miss Burke who found the dead body this morning.

Dr. W. H. Bailey of No. 13 Howland street was called, but the girl was dead when he arrived. Assistant Medical Examiner Richardson called it "probably suicide," and found death due to chloroform poisoning.

There was a letter in the room addressed to Miss Charles B. Crowe of No. 10 Longfellow street, Dorchester, the girl's mother.

The girl was employed by the Burnell Manufacturing Company in the office at No. 25-27 Sudbury street. She was the eldest of six children, and the only one at work. The father, Charles B. Crowe, is an expressman. He said today:

"I don't know what chloroform would have been. I only just got home on a hurry call that something was wrong. I have not received the letter she is supposed to have written. She left the house in the best of spirits."

The suicide theory received a blow from word that the girl had bought a ticket to a church supper to be held tonight at the Upham's Corner Memorial Church. She had planned to go to this supper with the rest of the family.

Her father said no man ever came on her, and that she spent practically every evening at home.

There was just six cents in the girl's pocket book when she was found today.

Strange Fate of Girls Who Loved Brothers

A strange fatality has pursued John and Arthur Argeros of Salem. A year ago, each had a sweetheart, and their friends expected their marriage. John was to marry Matrona Stavropoulos, a Lowell school teacher, whose picture is here produced. The day before the wedding—the girl drowned herself. And now the girl Arthur might have married is also dead—drowned. Each girl was twenty years old, each of the finest type of her country's beauty.

Arthur Argeros was arraigned in the Salem court today, charged with the murder of his sweetheart, Ellen Erbin, whose body washed ashore at Salem. Willows late yesterday.

"I know nothing of the girl's doings on Tuesday. I was peddling my bread in Salem market, and I met her older brother, Michael, in a store at No. 175 Walnut street, Peabody, and there gave him eight letters which the girl had written me."

"I never promised to marry her, she often wrote me, making engagements for me to meet in Salem and Peabody, but I never saw her except at her own home with her brothers."

Several times she threatened to kill herself. I told her I couldn't marry her because I had an older brother and sister to support, and because I might be called at any time to serve in the Greek Army."

BRITISH ARMY HEAD RESIGNS?

By HERBERT TEMPLE.

LONDON, March 25.—The army officials brought about by the British situation hold the attention of the throne, the cabinet and parliament today.

King George summoned Premier Asquith to Buckingham Palace this afternoon and their conference lasted so long that the premier was unable to reach the House of Commons when the parliamentary session began.

As the members gathered a persistent report was circulated in the lobbies that Field Marshal Sir John French, chief of the general staff of the army, and Lieutenant-General Sir J. S. Smart, the adjutant general, had resigned rather than accept the mandate of Premier Asquith that the army must obey the government's orders unconditionally.

The war office refused to deny or affirm the reports of the resignations, but they were generally accepted as true and formed the basis of interpretations directed at the government by the Unionist members.

After the members of the cabinet at the session had awaited the arrival of the premier for some time, First Lord of the Admiralty Churchill made this announcement:

"The premier will make a statement later regarding the reported resignations."

"ORDERED TO ORDER."

In response to sharp questions as to what the policy of the army really is, Colonel Seely, the Secretary of War, replied:

"The accepted policy is that troops shall not be employed to do things which are not in the interest of the country, but to do things which are in the interest of the country."

The launch at the Willows where the girl's body was found was today watched for her hot, the only article of her clothing yet unaccounted for. The body was found about the shore of the water and the tide was ebbing. John Chapman, a fisherman, said it from his launch and called to George Merrick asquith, Merrick was the first to reach the body.

Daniel J. Donohue gave the police a clue to their investigation of the death when he said he saw a girl and a man sitting on the rocks at Salem Willows yesterday. His later identified the clothing at the dock as that of the girl he saw on the rocks. This statement threw doubt on the original suicide theory. Argeros lives at No. 26 Elmgrove street, Salem. He was arrested at his home, early today, by Inspector Peletier, under orders from Captain Carr as a result of information furnished the police by one of the dead girl's brothers.

3 GUILTY IN BOOK FRAUDS

The three men accused in the "de luxe" book cases—Glen Farmer, Samuel Rosenfield and James Clark, alias Powers—were today found guilty and sentenced to imprisonment by Judge Chase in the Suffolk Superior Court. The conviction came in a sealed verdict by the jury, which was out seven and a half hour.

After ordering the men immediately committed to begin their terms, Judge Chase decided to listen to arguments by counsel, and later granted an indefinite stay of sentence. A dramatic moment came when Clark, who had been sentenced to two years in the House of Correction at Deer Island, arose in the prisoners' cage and refused to accept a stay of sentence.

Clark was found guilty of one count of conspiracy and one of larceny from Mrs. Mary L. Rogers of Beacon street, by the sale of "de luxe" books.

HEAVY MAIL FOR TWO.

Farmer was found not guilty of conspiracy and guilty of larceny in one count. He was sentenced to three to five years in the Charlestown State prison, the first day in solitary confinement and the rest of the term at hard labor.

Rosenfield was found guilty of one count of conspiracy and eight counts of larceny. He was sentenced to state prison, the first day in solitary confinement and the rest of the term at hard labor.

While Clark was being led away to begin his sentence, Farmer was ordered held in $25,000 bail, Rosenfield in $25,000 bail. Both men were taken to the Charlestown Jail while their friends made effort to get bail.

The courtroom was jammed with spectators, among them being Mrs. Rogers, who, on the stand, told of how she had bought supposed rare editions of books at a sold-out cost.

Thaw Loses Fight Against Jerome's Big Fee in Albany

ALBANY, N. Y., March 25.—Harry K. Thaw has lost his fight to escape return to Mattawam by "cutting the ground from under Jerome's feet."

The New York State Senate has passed the bill appropriating $45,000 for defraying the expenses of the "pursuit of Thaw," and William Travers Jerome of that provided, with funds ample to continue the fight for bail.

The bill was introduced some weeks ago. Of the total of $45,000, one-half, or $22,500, goes to Jerome as fees for his legal services. Other amounts go to Bernard S. Jacobs and other attorneys whom Jerome has enlisted to help in his work. The bill was passed by a vote of 45 to 15.

REBEL LEADER FIGHTS FOR LIFE BEFORE TORREON

WASHINGTON, March 26.—"Retels once more routed and repulsed at Gomez Palacio, with heavy loss, while trying to approach Torreon." This message was received at the Mexican embassy today from Mexico City.

JUAREZ, Mexico, March 26.—General Villa has rallied his troops and has renewed his attack on the Federals who drove the Constitutionalists from Gomez Palacio, according to a brief message received by Governor Chao early today. This message, Governor Chao declared, said that earlier reports of Villa's defeat had been exaggerated and that he expected to be fighting soon in the streets of Torreon.

MEXICO CITY, March 26.—"Villa has been defeated at Torreon with a loss of 2,000 men. General Velasco has won a great victory." The foregoing statement was given out at the War Department today. It was said to be based on official advices from Torreon, though the wires to that city have not been working since last night. Despite the government announcement a report was in general circulation that Torreon had fallen.

VILLA FIGHTS FOR LIFE WITH ARMY DIVIDED

EL PASO, Tex., March 26.—Late dispatches from El Vergil by the way of Juarez give detailed and thrilling accounts of Villa's desperate plight and his mad effort to retrieve the defeat at Torreon and save the shattered remnants of his army.

Villa, his army divided, and he himself from Mexican City out to between him and Durango on Tuesday night.

Revolutions with two-thirds of the rebel forces, is across the river, having been at the defense of Torreon itself, which show disposition to yield. The force with him must win or be utterly crushed.

Villa won that place at the cost of many of his best soldiers on Tuesday, only to be driven back again that night. Now he is staking his ambition, if not his very life, on its capture with such forces as were left under his immediate command when the smartly-uniformed regulars

Launch Submarine 'K-6' at Fore River

The submarine K-6 was launched today at the Fore River yards, Quincy, as the craft began to slide down the ways the customary bottle of wine was smashed against her bow by Mrs. T. O. Roberts, wife of the naval constructor. As the bottle broke Mrs. Roberts said, "I christen this K-6." Many prominent men and women and several naval officers witnessed the launch, which was a complete success. Luncheon and an inspection of the works followed the ceremony.

Now Believe Limer Was Not Blown Up

HONOLULU, March 25.—Reports of the destruction of the inter-island steamer Maui, reported to have been blown up with the loss of many lives on Hawaii, was said today to be unfounded. It is now believed that the vessel will report safely later.

An Auto Most Anybody Can Afford

Were you surprised to see that 1912 touring car, fully equipped, advertised for $475 the other day?

Well, you would have been surprised even more had you seen what a genuine bargain it really was. And yet snaps like that are advertised almost daily among the American "Want Ads."

You may have thought that autos are beyond your purse, but if you will follow the bargains offered and investigate a few of them, you are pretty certain to decide that you, too, can afford a car.

If there's something in particular you want, run, an ad. of your own and see what it is possible to get for your money. Write an ad. today and leave it with any of the American's "Want Ad" Stations, the branch office at 264 Washington Street, Main office at 80 Summer Street, or

Transfer Girl's Suit to Federal Court

The $150,000 damage suit for alleged breach of promise filed by Miss Mary I. Sullivan of Needham against John Dross Lloyd of Boston and Chicago, was transferred today to the United States District Court. This is the second "heart balm" suit ever filed in the Federal Court for this district.

Low Wages an Ally for "White Plague"

Dr. Edward G. Davis of the Back Bay, in speaking today before the sixth session of Massachusetts Conference on Tuberculosis, No. 2, Joy Street, said that a dining card has much to do with the spread of that disease.

"People who are compelled to live on low wages eat poor food and live in poor tenements are an easy prey for the tuberculosis," he said.

Precious Pawlwa Toe Is Well Again

NEW YORK, March 25.—Miss Pawlwa's valuable little toe is well again. DRIVEN BACK 20 MILES.

They are said not to know that their chief, with a third of their comrades, was dislodged from Gomez Palacio and driven back twenty miles. They must, however, be aware that heavy firing is now going on in that suburb of Torreon, and Villa went into battle last night.

It is believed that the chief of the army has resolved in battle, Villa, the man who saw him lead his troops into action last night, that he was in a blue-rimmed hat, in the hands of the dead of his men.

BATTLE TO THE DEATH.

He was within no quarter and intended to give none. It is a fight to the death. There are no more chances of Torreon or reoccupying in the Plaza.

General Torreon, who was killed, was an officer of the machine guns and artillery of Torreon. He was an immediate, mostly morose and death stand between the two sides of Torreon.

The town was taken after a fight lasting two hours, in which the Zapatistas were killed. The prisoners were taken to the city and their eyes put out before they were put to death. The soldiers were ordered to kill the prisoners.

WOMEN STORM CAPITOL FOR 'VOTES' VERDICT 'RE-PEX' CASE

This was suffrage day on Beacon Hill and hundreds of suffragists and their leaders—anti "uffragits"—stormed the State House.

The galleries were packed and jammed and the overflow throng of women poured into the corridors. Suffrage was the slogan, though here and there some of the "pantis" put in a few words.

After the lawmakers had opened their floor of oratory, the House adopted a motion to take the vote on the suffrage amendment to the constitution at 3 o'clock sharp.

DEMAND SUBMISSION.

In the debate the House Republican leaders of Boston said the reason the suffrage bill had been reported was because the suffragists had objected to its passage.

DAUGHTER BUYS UP PICTURES OF MME. CAILLAUX

PARIS, March 25.—Madame Caillaux' daughter, Mlle. Genevieve Caillaux, attempted to control the supply of newspapers which published photographs of her mother. When Mlle. Caillaux, who is nineteen, saw her mother's picture displayed on the newspaper stands, she bought all that were left and took them home in a taxi.

Madame Caillaux passed a quiet day recovering from the emotion and fatigue provoked by her testimony before the Senate.

At the inquiry, an assistant of the publisher who sold Mme. Caillaux a revolver, testified that, after seeing it, she practiced on two silhouettes representing the president, being placed at a distance of fifty feet.

She slipped at the abdomen and legs and made excellent practice. Mme. Caillaux told the police after her arrest that when she was waiting to be received by the editor of the Figaro she heard three men of the staff of that newspaper discussing important documents were to be published on the following day.

M. Bourdieu, the examining magistrate, called the case to the stand. They denied they had mentioned the name of Mme. Caillaux. They said they were discussing the next morning's edition of the Figaro, as one of them had a contribution to that paper. Their conversation was loud enough for Mme. Caillaux to hear.

All noted, they said, that Mme. Caillaux was absolutely alone a minute before she fired at the editor.

CHARGE FACTS SUPPLEMENTED. Violent public and official protests against the favors shown to Mme. Caillaux, associate of Charles Caillaux, by the authorities of St. Lazare prison had their effect when Mme. Witz, who is accused of a murderous attack on her husband, was transferred to a cell with a maid to attend her.

The inquiry into the connection of former cabinet ministers with the composition of the government of the Republic, the swindler, grows more and more complicated.

The abstract of the testimony supplied to the press appears to be far from complete. Unofficial reports of the investigation by the committee of the Chamber of Deputies made it necessary for the committee to visit the prison at St. Lazare.

Boil Egg on Cake of Ice at Harvard. They've boiled an egg on a cake of ice at Harvard. They had to use ultra-violet rays of the right number of angstrom units. Dr. W. L. Davis, experimenting in the laboratory of the Harvard cancer commission, exposed an egg and a chunk of ice to waves of a length of about 3,750 angstrom units. The egg was boiled and the ice was melted.

EMPLOYERS ASK LEGISLATORS TO 'GIVE US A REST'

Printing under the head, "A Manufacturer Must Not," forty-three labor laws enacted since 1915, and thirty-four acts entitled "A Manufacturer Must," the Massachusetts Alliance of Manufacturers and Employers' Associations have appealed to the legislators. "Give us a rest," the manufacturers ask.

Their request appears in a broadside mailed every Senator and Representative on Beacon Hill. It is headed, "Help Bring Industries to Boston!" It continues: "Manufacturers are not seeking to invest new capital in a State which imposes continual burdens and limitations upon manufacturers while giving to combinations of labor unfettered power to hamper the employer when a labor dispute is forced upon him."

Many of its manufacturers have left the State, others are now preparing to leave because they feel that they have not been getting a square deal at the hands of the Legislature of Massachusetts and are the prey of the "Social Unifiers."

President W. H. Stevens of the Bay State Automobile Association has declared that his club would do everything in its power to bring about the building of the new State House in New England this year. He held that on sections of the country is more entitled to the tour than New England, and if the tour is held here, he is satisfied that several members of the State Automobile Association will make entry.

Charles Metz and Salesmanager W. H. Schwartz, of the Metz Company, the present holder of the Glidden Tour, are both giving expression of their determination to enter the Glidden Tour of 1915, no matter what action of the country it is held.

Governor Martin Glynn of New York, in addressing a banquet held in the Carnegie Hall, where the prize labor problem was being discussed, said: "The State must get its prisoners to work making the bridges over the construction of the State roads. In this way I will stop the grafting contractors from swindling the contractors."

By J. C. KERRISON. It is the opinion that the American Automobile Association has in mind a trip from New York City to the White Mountains, some time in July, and that the trophies in competition in this tour will be the Glidden and the American trophies.

These trophies were first given in 1915, the route being from New York City to the White Mountains and return. Since then New England has had the tour twice and it is felt that it should be given on the tour this year. Still, there are other sections of the country which are anxious to see the Glidden Tour of 1915, and will take a considerable co-operation on the part of the meeting organization to bring the tour to this section this year.

FLYER SHOWS NEW BIPLANE IS 'FOOL PROOF'

Flying 100 feet above Marblehead harbor, aviator Clifford L. Webster stopped the engine and took his hands from the levers and let the machine control itself on its downward glide. In order to prove that the new Burgess-Dunne biplane is practically "fool proof."

The aviator demonstrated that this biplane, which has just been completed at the Burgess works, has a kind of stability which makes it a machine for the beginner. Whether the aviator loses his head or his nerve, the machine under ordinary conditions will remain right-side-up. A series of landings on Webster's machine, which is a new type of biplane, was made at a height of 2,000 feet, pulled back his control levers to the limit, so that the steering surfaces were straight up.

The aviator seemed to climb almost straight up, so that it seemed as if it would "fall" and drop back. It did nothing of the kind. The machine kept on going, though it was greatly inclined, and after a sufficient interval to prove that its machine would not fall, Webster brought it back to an even keel and level again.

At one time he turned the machine at an angle of about 75 degrees. He stated this with a sweeping volplane to the surface of the water.

Washington to Ban Common Towels

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The District of Columbia Commissioners are preparing to banish the "common towel." "Polished communal" says Health Officer Woodruff, "are that requisiting that common drinking cups and common towels are sources of danger and should be abolished. It is my belief also that glasses at all soda fountains should be sterilized after each use."

Rockefeller 250-Ton Monolith Is Barred

NEW YORK, March 24.—John D. Rockefeller has encountered further trouble in the removal from the city of the 250-ton monolith, which he is to have carved into a fountain at Tarrytown. The New York Board of Water Supply demands that he construct a steel structure for the removal of the stone across Bedford Road, occupied by the Iron Aqueduct.

MAYOR CHARGES IMPROPER WORK FOR POLICE PAY

Winning his first victory in the house of no reform action in the police department without "considerable" aid from the opposition, Mayor Curley expects to win.

"That the increase in police pay made at an improper time, and that the police department is not playing an equitable game in the matter,"

"That unless relief is granted, the police department will have to continue to pay an excessive amount of money to its members."

He argued before the House today that the police department is not playing an equitable game in the matter of its pay. When he began his argument the committee voted to recommend the bill be amended. The amendment of three-quarters of the House membership is required to amend the measure.

"I don't expect you to think," he went on to say, "that I have these things in my mind to ask you to do. I am asking you to do what I have given serious consideration to this important question. I have given it a great deal of thought, and that it is my duty to call your attention to it. I am asking you to do what I have given serious consideration to this important question. "Postum for Mine"

Many a man and woman with coffee troubles has found that Postum is a sure and pleasant way back to health.

A doctor writes:

"I have been using Postum for the last seven or eight years, and think it has had a good deal to do with my looking younger than 55 years of age."

"I recommend it to all my patients, and those who have been using it have only praises for its taste and its good effects on their nervous system, like me they have given up tea and coffee altogether."

Postum is a pure food-drink made of wheat and a small proportion of molasses—roasted and skillfully blended. It is absolutely free from the coffee drugs, caffeine and tannin—common causes of heart, stomach, liver, kidney and nerve disturbance.

Some people marvel at the benefits from leaving off coffee and using Postum, but there is nothing marvelous about it—only common sense.

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be boiled. 15c and 25c paks.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder, requires no boiling. A spoonful stirred in a cup of hot water makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

"Good-bye, Tenney," I said—and then something more which I do not wish to write down.

"Good-bye, my little," he answered (that old story of mine which I do not wish to write down).

"I thought he did so as I approached the gateway to the saloon, for he said:

"Private cabin on main deck etc."

"Service as I was, I had just enough presence of mind to say 'service, please,' which threw them all the more entirely, so that he cried in quite a different voice."

"Storage passengers forward?" he asked me in a way that the stewardess of the steamer, and in order to make observation from the few persons on the pier I went down to the storage cabin, which was a little triangular piece in the bow, with an open space in the middle of the pier and a heavy oil-burner hanging from a ceiling overhead.

"It was dark. No more than three or four lamps on the pier were burning, but nevertheless I was afraid that the pier-master would recognize me."
